NO EASY ANSWER

Coming up May 18 at Hot Springs, Virginia, is the postponed conference of the United Nations called chiefly to discuss food, but almost certain to delve into international currency controls and foreign trade generally. Tentative agreements reached there may have much effect upon economic stability in the United States.

This makes it doubly important that the ban on reporters ordered by President Roosevelt be abrogated and that the American people be informed fully of all developments at the swank resort hotel at Hot Springs.

It has been estimated that after the war the United States Army and Navy will demobilize at least 7,500,000 men, the manufacturing industries 5,000,000 and the government 2,000,000. That is a minimum of about 15,000,000 jobs to be created for the peace era if widespread unemployment is to be averted.

America will depend heavily upon revived foreign trade to create new jobs. Foreign trade will be complicated. The United States is importing many details it will not require after the conflict ceases. The synthetic rubber industry will cancel the import of natural rubber. Synthetics are rapidly taking the place of silk. Sugar and vegetable oils formerly imported are being produced domestically to a large extent.

What is to be the answer to the problem of a continuing flow of imports, if this is necessary so that American products may be purchased in foreign lands. It is certain to be no easy answer, and agreements for postwar trade should certainly not be entered into behind closed doors, with the American press excluded from access to the facts.

It is unlikely, of course, that the press can be excluded. Fortunately, there are newspapers in the United States that will find a method of getting the news, and that will print it.

GAS FOR GARDENERS

As the result of Federal orders, Victory gardeners who must commute to their plots may obtain about twenty extra gallons of gasoline for their cars. The new order permits 300 additional miles of travel for gardening purposes, if the gardener can demonstrate that there is no other reasonable method of transportation available.

Apparently the grant of extra fuel is to be on an honor basis, as the OPA has not announced its intention to watch each gardener in an effort to determine whether he cheats occasionally. It has been decided, though, that the Victory effort must be devoted to producing food rather than flowers, the garden must be cultivated regularly and it must contain at least 1,500 square feet.

Some amateur surveying will be the first requirement of the gardener who needs extra gasoline. After that, if he convinces his ration board that his figures are correct and his intentions good, he should have no difficulty in making the necessary arrangements.

Federal agencies are reported to have discovered that permitting slaughter houses to resume operations will help relieve the meat shortage.

Alaska is asking for statehood. The idea has the ardent support of everybody up there who wants to be United States Senator.

COMMUNICATION

Bristol, Pa., Apr. 29, 1943.

Mr. Serrill D. Dettelson,
Managing Editor, Bristol Courier,
Bristol, Pa.

Dear Sir:

Our company wishes to express our appreciation of the publicity given in your paper to a recent robbery of which we were the victims. It is apparent from your article in the issue of today that you are aware of the recovery of a large part of the stolen funds through the efforts of Chief of Police Linford J. Jones of Bristol and Anthony J. Russo, Chief of the Bucks County Detectives. We are very appreciative of the efficiency of these officials in this case and for your information, enclose a copy of a letter which we have addressed to Chief Jones regarding the matter.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE BOOS,
President

April 29, 1943

Mr. Linford J. Jones, Chief of Police,
Bristol, Pennsylvania.

Dear Sir:

The Board of Directors of this company have requested me to write you, expressing our appreciation of the prompt and efficient manner in which you and your staff acted in connection with the robbery of our office some time between the evening of Tuesday, April 27th, and the following morning. Needless to say we were delighted with the recovery of a large part of the stolen funds which were returned to us today.

Only your prompt action and the efficiency of your force could have resulted in such success within thirty-six hours.

Please extend to Mr. Anthony Russo, Chief of the Bucks County Detectives, who we are informed, assisted in the case, our thanks for his efforts and appreciation of the results accomplished.

Our Board has also requested me to advise Clifford L. Anderson, Burgess, and Edward J. Blester, District Attorney, of the results accomplished by your force in this case. I am, therefore, sending each of them a copy of this letter with our commendation of your efforts.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE BOOS,
President

ingly obvious at every knot that Doenitz was on the job, determined to make a killing and show Hitler that the Allied angular vein could be reversed.

When we finally docked on the African side we realized more than ever the desperate determination with which Doenitz is reaching for the Atlantic kill. He assembled U-boat wolf packs to track us down and corner us but was outsmarted and probably lost submarines to boot.

Obviously the Nazis are waging the Atlantic battle on the basis of systematic information gleaned about convoys before they leave the Western Hemisphere. The Germans plot their sea attacks accordingly. The main trick is to anticipate or guess the route of each convoy and assemble a U-boat pack at a convenient point for attack. For that reason a number of Nazi submarines are posted off the American shores to detect convoy courses and there always is the possibility of catching a lame duck wallowing behind a convoy due to engine trouble.

On this trip Doenitz tried everything. We skirted a couple of U-boat lurking spots but our escorting units were not afraid to meet Nazi submarines. However, their main task is to get a convoy to a designated port as safely as possible and therefore they followed a secret route, with lights out, guns loaded and flags flying in proud defiance of Hitler's sea terrors.

Cards of Thanks

WE WISH TO THANK—All our friends and neighbors who provided automobiles, sent cards & flowers or helped in any way at the time of our recent bereavement.

MRS. ALVIN LEACH & FAMILY
ON BEHALF—Of the Bristol Rotary Club, I wish to thank the faculties of the various schools for their splendid co-operation in the recent concert.

Also the student boys and girls for their efficient handling of the seating and ticket collecting.

To the Board of Education for its generous permission to use the auditorium.

In this connection I might add that Hubhoff while rather critical of our method of handling the publicity, was loud in his praise of the stage setting and lighting.

The amount realized for the Red Cross after Federal taxes are deducted will amount to about $250.00.

Beyond the financial results, we feel that the entertainment afforded the children at the various assemblies fully repaid us for our effort. Our thanks are also due the Courier for the publicity given us.

BENSALEM HIGH DEFEATS BRISTOL; WINS GAME, 5 TO 4

Bristol Nine Plays First Game of Season at Cornwells Heights

LANGHORNE NOW LEADS

Bensalem Team Plays Good
Game Throughout
The Period

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, May 1.—A home run in the last half of the seventh inning by "Eddie" Lombardo gave the Bensalem High School a 5-4 victory over Bristol High yesterday afternoon on the local diamond. It was Bristol's first game of the season and as the result of the Bensalem victory, Langhorne took undisputed possession of first place in the three-team Lower Bucks League.

Bristol hopes for victory had taken a great leap in the first half of the inning when hits by McDevitt and Johnson intermingled with a stolen base had backdoored the score. When McDevitt retired the first Bensalem batter in the seventh, it appeared as if the game would go into extra innings. But up to the plate stepped Lombardo and slammed a McDevitt pitch into deep centerfield for an easy home run.

Both Joe McDevitt, Bristol, and Hughie Deans, Bensalem, the hurlers did a fine job on the hill. They both fanned eight batters and walked one. McDevitt's support was wobbly while the Bensalemites played well behind Deans. Bristol was chalked up with six errors. Both clubs had five hits with Leo Johnson, Bristol's backstopper, being the only batter to get more than one bingle.

Mayo Scancellia aided Bristol's cause in the sixth when he slashed out a homer with Johnson on base. Crossan tripled later in the frame but could not be pushed over. The other Bristol run was tallied in the first when Scancellia walked, was sacrificed to second and counted when Lombardo bobbed Crossan's grounder.

Samuel's triple and an error scored Bensalem's first run while an error and two hits accounted for another pair in the third. A walk, single, and a force-out scored the Owls' fourth marker in the fourth inning.

SEVEN BLUE STARS

(To Mrs. Paul Tomlinson)

By Jan Smith

There are seven stars in her window—
With a silver bar under one:
Each stands for a life she has guided,
Each stands for a given son.
Yes, seven stars are emblazoned
In a shaded window tonight—
Yet she sees each face of her dear ones
In every tear that dims her sight.
Seven blue stars on a banner,
Displayed for the world to behold;
Please God, give her faith, strength and courage.

And don't have those stars turn to gold.

New Hope To Dedicate Honor Roll Tomorrow

NEW HOPE, May 1.—An honor roll containing more than 135 names of servicemen from New Hope borough and rural New Hope will be unveiled at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at the site of the cannon on South Main street, in honor of the many men in service, and women in the auxiliary service.

An incomplete list contains the above mentioned number thus far, and when returns have been made, it is thought that over 150 names will be inscribed on the roll.

Members of the Edgar H. Denson American Legion Post, No. 79, and the Mother's Service Club, of this place, are sponsoring the affair and an elaborate program has been arranged.

The Rev. Joseph McGoldrick will give the invocation, which will be followed by a salute to the flag. Robert McNamara, commander of Edgar H. Denson Post, will introduce the guests, which will include: Colonel George Van Orden, Major John Nevin, Captain Oliver Parry, George Spielman, district deputy commander of the American Legion, and visiting boys on furlough.

Captain George Butler, of Doylestown, will address the gathering, which will be followed by community singing, "God Bless America," and the unveiling and dedication of the Roll of Honor, by Robert McNamara. Dr. R. C. Magill, Burgess of New Hope, will at this time deliver an address, which will be followed by prayer by the Rev. Ellsworth L. Jennings, and an address by District Commander of the American Legion George Baxter.

Community singing, "Keep the Home Fires Burning," led by Mrs. Schoch, will be followed by the pronouncing of benediction by the Rev. Russell M. Weer.

Mrs. John A. Flood, who is the mother of sons in the three major service departments, is in charge of arrangements being made by the Mother's Service Club, and Commander Robert McNamara, of Edgar H. Denson Post, heads the committee on military arrangements.

Included in the program will be special reference to the Service Flag, presented to the town by the local Exchange Club, which has been displayed for some time at the intersection of Bridge and Main streets, containing a star representing 130 men in service.

Harry Doan, of Buckingham, is now engaged in salvaging iron in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and is operating a magnetic separator machine to reclaim iron from factory grounds and sand hills.

An article appearing in a Tulsa publication states that a short time ago Bert Gaddis, salvage manager of the district War Production Board, and E. F. Rand, senior iron and steel expeditor for the W. P. B. in Washington obtained this magnetic separator machine from Buckingham to reclaim iron to make guns, ships and planes for the armed forces.

The machine, one of six in the country "mining" old iron at foundry sites, is the first to be used in the Southwest. The process has been in use for a year in eastern steel sections. This machine requires a crew of three.

Continuing, the article said: "On one side of the separator is the hopper, into which the truck dumps its load, explained Engineer Harry Doan, Buckingham, Pa. The hopper drops the dirt into a bucket elevator, which carries it to the top of the machine. There it is spilled on a conveyor belt, which runs over a magnetic pulley and separates the iron from sand and debris."

For every 10 carloads of scrap iron collected one carload of pure iron is produced.

Operating expenses are shared by a partnership including the Tulsa Iron and Metal Company, the Citron-Byer Company, Trenton, N. J., and Mr. Doan.

Mildred Belmont Is Wed To Giro Cotugno

Cotugno wore yellow. The figured gowns were floor-length with short sleeves, and had sweet-heart necklines. Clusters of flowers which matched their respective gowns held face veils of the same color tone, and slippers also matched the gowns. Miss Belmont carried pink roses and baby's breath, and Miss Cotugno carried yellow roses and baby's breath.

A week's trip to New York City will be taken by Mr. and Mrs. Cotugno, and upon their return they will reside at 348 Penn street.

The bride presented her attendants with gold bracelets; and Mr. Cotugno gave to the best man a wallet.

Kaiser May Build Helicopters Here

Fleetwings, Inc., aircraft plant, here, recently taken over by Kaiser, where the helicopters are expected to be built.

It is estimated that altogether 50 engineers are at work in Philadelphia and at Bristol on the plans. The craft will go to the British government under lend-lease.

A director of the Brewster Corporation confirmed the fact that experiments with models of the giant craft were in progress. Elsewhere it was ascertained the Navy had allocated funds to Kaiser to conduct this type of work.

The new plane, comprising merely a 282-foot wing without a tail, will carry a cargo of 68,000 pounds and have a range of 4,000 miles. It will be powered by four engines developing 8,000 horsepower. Earlier experiments have shown the design to be practicable, and according to the same corporation official, the plane will include new developments making for economy of building and operation.

"We're Fighting for Better World," Club Women Told authority the United States has to be willing to bring her problems before the world governing group, and must be willing to abide by its decisions."

Dr. Kistler then said: "I'm proud of America. There is no land in my opinion that approaches it—but it is not perfect." At this juncture, by recalling historical facts, he showed the weak spots of America, mentioning how this country like its present enemies, has stooped to trickery.

"We need humility on the part of nations as well as of individuals. We need co-operation in working out the problems of the world. Yes, I believe we are on the right track—fighting for a better world. But we must work out a just peace. Can't we find some basis of justice? Can't we insist that the experts be guided by a realization of what is best for America, and what is best for the true interests of America will be best for the world."

That he has too much faith in humanity and in a loving God to think there will always be war was one point presented by the speaker. In summing up his remarks Dr. Kistler showed how advances have been made by civilization—with individual fights of prehistoric times finally being settled by tribe leaders, with tribal wars finally ceasing, then city wars recounted in the Bible becoming passe, and with wars between states now being a thing of the past. "We have one step left to end wars between countries, and to have problems settled peaceably."

Election of officers and the installation ceremony which was in charge of Mrs. Erdman, was a feature of the afternoon also. Mrs. Samuel Althouse, Newtown, announced the report of the nominating committee, and election followed. Mrs. Walter W. Ely, New Hope, was succeeded by Mrs. Richard Landis, Morrisville, as president. Other officers elected are: Vice presidents, Mrs. Harry T. Williams, Jr., Langhorne, Mrs. Walter B. Moyer, Perkaskie, Mrs. William B. Benedict, Newtown; corresponding secretary, Miss Helen Leedom, Yardley; recording secretary, Mrs. Harry T. Neher, Bristol; treasurer, Mrs. Casimir A. Sienkiewicz, Doylestown; directors, Mrs. William Lynch, Southampton, Mrs. Henry Parsons, Makefield, Miss Helen Ryan, Doylestown.

Mrs. John B. Force, Yardley, chairman of literature for the federation, announced winners of contests conducted by the club and presented prizes to the winners. Mrs. Roy J. Cole, Quakertown, a native of France, read her prize-winning story; and Mrs. William Rorer, Yardley, her essay "Woman's Part in the War Effort." The winning poem was written by Mrs. Fred Hyde, of Warrington Junior Women's Club.

During the afternoon the reports of junior club work in the county was given by Mrs. J. Carroll Malloy, who brought out the fact that junior clubwomen are playing their part in the war-effort—serving as aircraft spotters, nurses aides, donating blood, etc., with a number already having enlisted in the allied branches of the armed services.

Music for the day was provided by Mrs. William Mason, Doylestown, vocalist; and Mrs. David M. Sheerer, Jr., Bristol, pianist. Mrs. G. Howard Cliff, Langhorne, expressed appreciation to the Doylestown Nature Club and Village Improvement Association for their kindnesses as hostess groups. The Travel Club of Bristol extended an invitation for the fall meetings.

During the morning hours the following numbers were included: Pledge to the flag, led by local Girl Scouts; invocation, the Rev. Charles F. Freeman, pastor of the Salem Reformed Church; welcome by Miss Helen L. Ryan, president of the V. I. A., and Mrs. George W. Shock, president of the Nature club; response, Mrs. William J. Kelley, Chalfont; minutes, Mrs. Ralph Keller, Perkaskie; reports—treasurer, Mrs. Charles Lebig, Doylestown; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank Magill, Doylestown; R. D.; scholarship committee chairman, Mrs. J. Harry Hoffman; reports of department chairmen.

Miss Augusta Atkinson made an appeal for young women to enter the field of nursing, telling of the great need in hospitals, in the armed services, and for other cases. She mentioned that last year 95,000 beds had been added in hospitals in the United States. "Students would be of great aid in the hospital shortage," she advised. She gave requirements for entering this field of work, and told of scholarships and loan funds available to aid the student nurses.

The morning speaker was Mrs. Frank A. Willis, Germantown, who is state chairman of programs. The changes necessitated in club programs due to the war were considered, and many helpful suggestions given. The need of blending of program materials until there can be a swing back to the type of programs conducted prior to the war was stressed. "Keep in mind that education is our primary achievement," urged Mrs. Willis. The value of federation especially when representation in state or civic affairs is desired was mentioned. "In spite of rationing of all types, it is important that we keep our groups together. The most expensive program presentations are not always the best. Your local officials can often be secured and will give information that is helpful to all."

"Food programs are a great aid. We need to be physically strong, mentally alert and emotionally stable in these times of stress."

Mrs. Jesse Dotterer, of Quakertown, spoke briefly to the gathering, she mentioning the "tremendous power and potential activity for service noted in your large program." After pointing out the inadequacies of education of women for participation in line of citizenship, she urged that something be done in this matter. "We must take our place in winning the peace."

Mrs. Earl H. Tomb, Bristol, told of work done recently on the educational trail at Bowman's Hill wild flower preserve, which is a federation project. She informed that the pavilion there is completed, and that grading is also done.

Members of the Travel Club of Bristol attending the county federation meeting at Doylestown included: President, Mrs. E. Linton Martin, Mrs. Harry T. Neher, Mrs. Albert Loechner, Mrs. Earl Tomb, Mrs. David M. Sheerer, Jr., Mrs. George LaRue, presi-
